

Gilda's Club Kansas City Fact Sheet

So that no one faces cancer alone.®

Overview and Background

- Gilda's Club Kansas City is a unique community providing social and emotional support for people of all ages living with all types of cancer, along with their family and friends—from early diagnosis to post treatment and beyond.
- Gilda's Club provides a warm and welcoming, home-like setting where anyone impacted by cancer can share experiences, find support and learn how to live well with cancer.
- Gilda's Club is the first clubhouse in Missouri or Kansas. It opened Oct. 24, 2011.
- The Club is named for comedian Gilda Radner (best known for her work on NBC's "Saturday Night Live") who died from ovarian cancer in 1989. Her husband, Gene Wilder, and her cancer therapist, Joanna Bull, founded Gilda's Club in 1995 in New York City.

Programming

- In 2007, the Institute of Medicine published a report stating psychosocial health programs, such as those at Gilda's Club, complement medical care and are essential to an overall cancer treatment plan.
- Gilda's Club offers various programs for people living with all types of cancer, their families and caring friends such as:
 - Weekly adult support groups
 - Monthly networking groups that focus on post treatment, breast cancer, young survivors, grief and loss, and more
